NOTE.

Reference Lists similar to this, issued in 1918 and again in 1921, met with sufficient evidence of usefulness to justify a revised edition for the year 1925.

The list is made simply for convenient reference, the main purpose being to give the exact name, the location, and the affiliation of institutions reporting some high school or higher work, except County Training Schools, other Public High Schools, and State institutions of higher grade. The previous editions included the last of these three classes. In this edition it seemed better to confine the list to private and denominational schools.

The few figures given are for the session 1924-25. T indicates the number of Teachers; A the attendance; H the number in high school; C the number in regular college classes; B the number of Boarders; S T the amount paid in salaries to actual teachers; T S the total amount of salaries. A blank space indicates nothing to report. A dotted line indicates failure to report.

The total attendance in the schools reported in this list is 57,195, of whom 22,513 are assigned to the high school grades. The total number reported in college classes is 4,852. Unfortunately in some instances the distinction is not clear between elementary and high school grades, and in other cases even less clear between normal school and regular college work. Yet on the whole the figures given may be taken as fairly correct.

A summary will be found at the end.
